Virginia used temporary federal COVID relief funds to meet record family demand for child care services.

These funds were used to expand child care access and choice as well as improve the quality of child care services.

However, these child care funds are set to end in the coming year.

Governor Youngkin's proposed budget includes critical child care investments and offers a significant step toward addressing this funding gap.

But there is more work to be done.

WE NEED YOUR VOICE

These investments are not guaranteed and without additional state funding, 35,000+ children could lose access to child care services.

We need your help in telling Virginia legislators that we must invest in our child care system!
